Identification of the members of the team, the criteria that were followed and an explanation of the roles that were assigned:

Members of the team

Guillermo Quevedo - Coordinator

Kevin Villanueva - Subcoordinator - Desarrollador

Marcelo De león - Member - Desarrollador

Criterias

The criteria we followed so that each member had an equal burden were experience in similar areas, the motivation of each member, commitment to the company, leadership, decision-making, and communication with others members.

Roles

The roles were chosen among the entire team and with the preferences of each one.

We also considered what each one could give of himself, the one who could attend the most workload and could arrive at the meetings on time.

The coordinator was declared considering if he could arrive at the meetings on time and if he had more free time than other members.

The sub-coordinator was declared considering if he did not arrive on time at the meetings and also if he did not have as much free time as other members.

Finally the members were declared considering if he did not attend meetings and was generally absent.

Mission and vision of the company:

Mission:

The company's mission is to provide services to our clients to achieve their ideas effectively and efficiently, through the selection and provision of computer solutions that best suit their reality.

Vision:

The company's mission is to be the most attractive, innovative and secure IT option that generates expectations in our customers, making Recode a window to the world of the web, codes and design.

System design considerations in the process of developing the system:

The design is considered as the layout of the system where each element of the page will be located and what information that element will contain.

At recode we think of a comfortable interface for the user that is intuitive, leaving aside light colors and we use dark colors to be able to enter at any time without tiring the eyes

We thought of a top menu making navigation faster and on the main page a couple of images of benefits of registering, since depending on what role the user has, they will be able to access different places on the page.

We also think about the issue of security, we plan to make a secure login that does not allow malicious users to enter and improve little by little with the user experience.
